In the introduction (line 11) we refer generically to the Italian legislative frame work, instead of some special laws, as reference for our case study.

We eliminate the repetition of reference to Fisher and Gazzola, (putting only at the end of chapter 1) where we make more clear the linkage between the controversial debate flexibility/rigidity of planning in the Italian legislative frame work. It is more clear that they refer to planning system instead of monitoring system of SEA.

We explained that the alert starts according to the ratio of the variation of land use indexes divided for a time length coherent with institutional upgrade of a plan, when
