

Interactive comment on “Do GCM’s predict the climate... or macroweather?” by S. Lovejoy et al.

M. Huber

huberm@purdue.edu

Received and published: 4 December 2012

I thank Shaun Lovejoy for his prompt and complete response. While I do have some background in this area it is exactly these kind of differences that are obvious to a specialist and not-so-obvious to a typical generalist reader of a journal like ESD(D). The reviewers will have their say, anon, but I hope the authors will consider making it easier for the interested reader to identify the key differences—either methodological or conceptual—between this and their other papers. My goal in this comment is merely to suggest an area where some improvement might make the paper more digestible. Thanks again for the response.

Interactive comment on Earth Syst. Dynam. Discuss., 3, 1259, 2012.