

Interactive comment on “Agnatology: learning from mistakes” by R. E. Benestad et al.

R.E. Benestad

rasmus.benestad@met.no

Received and published: 5 July 2013

I think that Rypdal must have misread my blogs and our paper, and his assertion "According to Benestad it does not exist because Jupiter's weather systems are chaotic" is taken out of the air.

I do not believe that chaos precludes organised patterns - we see organised patterns in the weather system all the time. What I say is that the red spot is probably unpredictable. That is a completely different position.

Interactive comment on Earth Syst. Dynam. Discuss., 4, 451, 2013.

C347