Dear authors,

in addition to other comments, two of the three reviews raised concerns about how this study differs from a previously published paper. In your response to the reviews and in the revision of your manuscript, you would need to pay special attention to address this major concern.

When submitting your revised manuscript, please provide a point-by-point response to all reviewer remarks and highlight the parts of the manuscript that were modified to address the reviewers comments. Your revised manuscript will be re-reviewed, possibly by the same reviewers.

Kind regards, Axel Kleidon editor
