General comment

After revision, quality of the article has improved significantly and the article can be published.

Technical corrections

I still suppose that in all cases the term "positive trend" should be used instead of "increasing trend".